I have wonderful memories visiting with Agnes, first in her apartment and then in her room at St. Anthony. She was such a generous lady. She gave me a cigar box full of little trinkets the first time I visited with my Mom, and later, at the Nursing home, she gave me a red cardinal which I nestle into a wreath hung above our patio table every winter. I will continue to think of Agnes every year as I gaze out the kitchen window and remember her sweet kindness.

“ In her 70s, Agnes visited the Jersey Shore . She stood tall and proud in our boat motoring as fast as we could, wind blowing in her hair. We asked if we should slow it down. She grinned and quipped, "I am enjoying it. Feeling free. I may never get this chance again!" Aunt Agnes, if we ever wonder from where our sense of adventure, daring and seizing the moment comes, it's all you....feel that freedom.

“ We extend our sympathy to the Stoolman family. Norene, you were one of the few Kuemper Class of 63 who had a living parent. No matter the age we truly miss our mothers. You can be at peace knowing you cared for her in St Anthony Nursing Home although you lived 100 miles away. That amounted to many trips. Dan, I saw you eating with your Mom in the cafeteria many times and you certainly kept her alert and carried on conversation. You have an effective way of doing that. Again, our sympathy.
