He grew up in the Roselle area and attended Holy Angels School, before graduating from Kuemper Catholic High School in 1984. After his schooling he worked for Riesenber Construction. He then worked for a brief time for R.L. Kraft Roofing in Denison where he was given the nickname Murdock – a name he received for his tenacious work ethic. David then went to work for Naberhaus Implement, where he worked for nearly 30 years. During those years he was known for his “MacGyver” ability to fix anything that was brought to him.

On April 26, 2014 on their farm, David was united in marriage to Carol Porter. In his spare time David enjoyed fishing, camping, working on his acreage, gardening, and canning. Also surviving is his mother, Donna Peterson of Carroll, his siblings: Larry (Carolyn) Riesenbergh of Omaha, Deb (Ed) Henningsen of Omaha, Randy (Julie) Riesenbergh of Carroll, Diane (Alan) Brincks of Mt.
